

Mitekufat Haeven - Journal of the Israel Prehistoric Society (JIPS) has served scholars interested in Near Eastern prehistory since 1960. It currently covers all research fields pertaining to the prehistory and protohistory of the Levant, up to and including the Chalcolithic period.

JIPS is peer-reviewed and published yearly (in December) as a full-color volume. The journal is published in English, with short Hebrew and Arabic summaries of each article.

All authors receive pdf files of their papers following acceptance, and can share them privately (there is a two-year embargo on uploading pdfs to public internet sites such as Academia.edu or Researchgate or personal webpages). All content is available online in JSTOR following a one-year moving wall.

We are keen to receive original and innovative articles and reports that deal with all aspects of prehistory and protohistory. We publish data-rich articles, including excavation reports, lab analyses, short notes and book reviews as well as papers dealing with theoretical issues and methods.

SUBMISSION

- Submissions of all types of manuscripts are accepted year-round but should be submitted no later than 1th May, in order to be considered for publication in the volume of that year (to be published by the end of the calendric year). Submissions are however, accepted all year.
- When submitting a manuscript, the corresponding author needs to submit a “Paper Submission Form” which appears below.

SUBMISSION FORMAT

- Manuscripts should be submitted in WORD format, using 1.5 spacing and the pages numbered.
- Each manuscript should include the following components:
 1. A title page with: A) the title; B) full names of all authors, their institutional affiliation and email addresses given below and numbered according to the order of authors (postal addresses are not needed); C) an abstract up to 250 words; D) up to 7 keywords, that differ from the words appearing in the title.
 2. A Hebrew title, authors' names and summary (an expanded abstract) on a separate page. The Journal offers help in translation for authors who are not Hebrew speakers. The Hebrew abstracts will be later translated into Arabic by the journal.
 3. Tables: Table captions should be integrated into the text in the relevant places (preferably following their first mention in the text). All tables should be submitted in one file, following the order they appear in the text.

4. Figures: Figure captions should be integrated into the text in the relevant places (preferably following their first mention in the text).

No more than 25 figures per manuscript are accepted. If the author wishes to publish more figures, a request should be submitted to the editor.

All figures should also be submitted as separate files, each named as in the text (e.g. Fig. 2). All figures should be submitted as open files including the layers.

5. Lists of Tables and Figures, organized and numbered following the order of their appearance in the text, should be given after the references in the main manuscript.

6. Acknowledgments.

7. References

The instructions for authors are currently being revised and will be published on this website before the end of March 2024. In the interim we are accepting papers submitted in any format.

For submission of manuscripts, other materials for publication and all correspondence should be sent to the editor of the 2024 volume, Liora Kolska Horwitz: mittekufathaeven@gmail.com.

For book reviews, a single hard copy of the book to be reviewed in the journal (the copy will not be returned) should be sent to Uri Davidovich, Institute of Archaeology, The Hebrew University, Jerusalem 9190501, Israel.

Please do not hesitate to contact the editorial team concerning manuscript submission or other queries: mittekufathaeven@gmail.com

The Editors,

Liora Kolska Horwitz, Uri Davidovich, Dina Shalem and Gonen Sharon
